Should Physicians Ever Challenge Patients’ Values?

Wednesday, February 20, 2019
4:30pm-6:30pm
UCSD, Medical Education and Telemedicine Building,
Learning Center Room 143
Light Refreshments will be provided.

In the patient/clinician conversation the clinician must inevitably adopt some conception of autonomy. In fact, more than one conception will often be at play. Dr. Brudney will distinguish several different conceptions and explain how far each is permissible in the patient/clinician conversation.

View more information on our website:
https://ethics.ucsd.edu/related-programs.html